The Gnowangerup CRC is a Not-for-profit community organisation that is able to provide Services to the Gnowangerup & surrounding communities by way of funding received by

The Department of Primary Industries & Regional Development.

The funding is limited and does not cover all of the costs for providing these vital services, so we here at the CRC are trying to come up with ways to receive additional financial support to continue providing these services.

The CRC has registered with CBH to be able to receive donations. Where a grower has delivered grain & sold that grain to a marketer, they can choose a Charitable Organisation to receive some of the proceeds of the grain.

By donating to the Gnowangerup CRC your money will go towards energising the sustainability of the Annual Gnowangerup Summer Fair. This event is the one major event that is held in our community & is heavily subsidised by the Gnowangerup CRC along with funders, Shire of Gnowangerup and Lotterywest.

Any additional donations will ensure the Fair continues to grow at a sustainable rate for all to enjoy.

How to donate to your Grass Roots

LoadNet process

1. Grower who has delivered the grain to CBH logs into their LoadNet account.
2. Click on Transactions tab & Load Donation tab.
3. Select Gnowangerup CRC from the list. Grower Number 40434383.
4. Enter the nomination details (acquirer, payment method, destination site) & select loads & complete nomination.

Gnowangerup Op-shop

Open Tuesday and Thursday 10am—12 noon

What a great year 2018 was for our Gnowangerup Op-shop (G.O.S)! We were fortunate to consistently receive so many wonderful donations from our community, that we have been able to return $10,000 since it first opened back into our community by way of small grants during the year. Op shop volunteers say, “this is fabulous effort on the part of the whole community and couldn't happen without everyone’s involvement”.

G.O.S is such an important service, offering not only a place for people to move on unwanted items to, but a great place to grab a bargain and for the proceeds to be returned to our community. But, one of the things that G.O.S prides itself on , is not only offering a thriving place to shop, but more importantly a place where people can come for a cuppa and chat, even if they aren't in the market for buying anything. Mind you, volunteers say there are so many bargains and with most things for only a $1, it's hard not to find something that grabs your eye.

The Op Shop has grown into an important hub of the community. Volunteer Jill Lesk said, “it really meets a need for so many locals and people passing through the Shire”. From clothing to household items, to books and toys we have seen a lot of useful and interesting donations over that time, and is one of the things that keep people coming back. It's not uncommon for there to be a queue at the door come opening time and where shoppers can never tell what will be in store for them. With the vast array of donations received, it really is like a treasure trove each Thursday from 10am—12noon.

Volunteers of G.O.S felt that op shopping had changed significantly over the last decade or so with shopper's reasons going beyond cheaply purchasing items of need. They felt whilst many families were under increasing financial pressure, but some people were making a conscious effort to shop with a purpose of recycling, repurposing or upcycling items. Not only do they save money or meet their creative inspirations, they are in fact delaying unwanted donations from becoming landfill. Whatever the reason, G.O.S is thriving place for many people and for many different reasons.

G.O.S are looking forward to another great year and where they hope to see you pop in on Tuesday and Thursday 10—12 noon for just a cuppa or to grab a bargain. And where everything; except furniture, is just $1! That's right just $1.

G.O.S are located in the Anglican Church Hall on Yougenup Road. If you have any queries about donating or volunteering, please call contact Jan House on: 0427 710 376 or, Jill Lesk on: 0427 770 767.

Gnowangerup Tennis Club

On Sunday 10th March the Gnowangerup Tennis Club held their annual Mixed Junior Tennis Competition. This event saw 16 couples compete in three different divisions, with competitors coming from Katanning, Broomehill, Kojonup and Gnowangerup. The day saw a high standard of tennis with great involvement.

All participants displayed excellent encouragement towards one another and a great deal of tennis knowledge was learnt, plus maximum fun was had by all!

On behalf of the Gnowangerup Tennis Club we'd like to extend a heart-felt thank you to our sponsors, Beeck's Transport, Stirling Ag. and BP Imports, for their support in making the success of the day a reality. It is with their support that we are able to continue the development of junior tennis in our community, and our club as a whole.

New @ the Library

Shortlisted for the L.D. and LaVerne Harrell Clark Fiction Prize In this lyrical and suspenseful debut novel, a turn-of-the-century logging company decimates ten thousand acres of virgin forest in the West Virginia Alleghenies--and transforms a brotherhood of timber wolves into revolutionaries. After fleeing his childhood farm in the wake of scandal, Cur Greathouse arrives at the Cheat River Paper & Pulp Company's Blackpine camp, where an unlikely family of sawyers offers him new hope. But the work there is exacting and dangerous--with men's worth measured in ledger columns.

Passengers boarding the 10.35 train from Manchester Piccadilly to London Euston are bound for work, assignments, reunions, holidays or new starts, with no idea that their journey is about to be brutally curtailed. Holly has just landed her dream job, which should make life a lot easier than it has been, and Jeff is heading for his first ever work interview after months of unemployment. They end up sitting next to each other. Onboard customer service assistant Naz dreams of better things as he collects rubbish from the passengers. And among the others travelling are Nick with his young family who are driving him crazy; pensioner Meg and her partner setting off on a walking holiday and facing an uncertain future; Caroline, run ragged by the competing demands of her stropky teenage children and her demented mother; and Rhona, unhappy at work and desperate to get home to her small daughter. And in the middle of the carriage sits Saheel, carrying a deadly rucksack...

Through depths and depths and bloodwarm depths we fall, until the surface is only an eerie gleam high above, nearly forgotten; and the deeper we sink, the deeper we want to go' Donna Tartt, author of The Goldfinch Living in the Blackwood family home with only her sister Constance and her Uncle Julian for company, Merricat just wants to preserve their delicate way of life. But ever since Constance was acquitted of murdering the rest of the family, the world isn't leaving the Blackwoods alone. And when Cousin Charles arrives, armed with overtures of friendship and a desperate need to get into the safe, Merricat must do everything in her power to protect the remaining family.

Spare Parts Puppet Show Gnowangerup District High School

On Thursday the 21st of March, Spare Parts Puppet Theatre performed a retelling of Tim Winton's "Blue Back" for the kids of Gnowangerup District High School. A truly captivating experience that follows the story of a young boy, called Abel, and his family who discovers an old fish named "Blueback" while scuba diving.

A thought-provoking performance about life and loss and why it's so important to look after our environment.

The kids loved the quirky characters and the strangely life-like movements that they made. This was a performance filled with goofy humour, a sad storyline and spooky scenes all made possible with a few puppets, some props, brilliant sound effects and two very creative puppeteers.

20 March 2019

Dob in a volunteer who's doing great work in the Great Southern!

If you know a volunteer who's doing great work and deserves recognition, we want to hear from you.

The Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries (DLGSC) is searching for sport and recreation volunteers in the Great Southern who make their club a better place because of their support and service.

If you know someone like that, please nominate them for the Mike Stidwell Medal.

Nominations are now open for this annual award which recognises outstanding contributions to sports administration. The award honours the memory of former Department of Sport and Recreation regional manager Mike Stidwell and his selfless and long-term contribution to sport and recreation in the region.

DLGSC's Great Southern Regional Manager, Chris Thompson, says the award is open to all volunteers.

"It doesn't matter if you're young or old, or how long you've been volunteering with your club," says Chris.

"This award recognises that volunteers are the backbone of their clubs and communities and if you know someone like that in your club, I encourage you to nominate them so that their hard work and generosity can be publicly acknowledged."

The selection committee will consider a combination of administrative performance, length and type of service, value to the organisation, people skills and character.

To be eligible, you must live in Great Southern region or have done so within the past two years. Nominees must predominantly have been involved in a sport and recreation club or group in a volunteer administrative role.

Previous nominees may be re-nominated this year. This acknowledges the fact that valued contributions are often made over many years.

The late Mike Stidwell was Regional Manager of the former Great Southern Department of Sport and Recreation from 1979 – 2000. The first medal was awarded in 2000 and is an on-going award through his family.

Nominations close on 30 April 2019, with the winner announced during National Volunteer Week (20 – 26 May 2019) at the Volunteer Recognition Sundowner on Monday 20 May at Centennial Stadium in Albany.

“LIFE”

By Ken Pillinger

Life is so precious and yet so fragile.

Life is meant to be enjoyed I believe; if not then something is going on causing us to think again.

We've been given the gift of life but so many people think that they can get away with just about anything until either the heavy hand of the law or sexually transmitted disease catches up with them.

It's too late then to turn back the clock.

It's through inspiration and encouragement that we achieve our goals in life, not gossip because gossip can be very destructive. I've known a ger gossipers. They are so negative putting people down behind their backs like back stabbing. It is very destructive things is gossip.

Be positive, build people up not tear them down. Just because someone has an addiction is no reason to tear people down. Everyone has an addiction of some sort, I've had them but the alter of God and repentant heart have smashed some of my addictions. If this happens – then don't go back to it, that's the ultimate. Everybody is somebody and everybody deserves self-worth. Run them or someone they love down, and it destroys them even to suicide.

Shut up you idiot! Don't interrupt me I'm too busy!

Things like that. Out of frustration the child got a hammer and smashed all the toys, but as an adult it's still in his head. Nobody listens to me etc. that's where I believe crime starts from – from childhood.

Life can be a beautiful thing. Life is a gift. Life use it well.—Signed Ken Pillinger

IMPORTANCE OF play-based LEARNING

Your child is naturally curious.

They want to know about the world around them. Right from birth, children are learning. They do this by watching and listening, moving, talking, feeling, exploring and questioning; by interacting with people, other children, animals, objects and spaces indoors and outdoors, around the home, and when you are out and about. In other words, your child learns through play.

Children's first teachers are their families. The daily interactions and experiences you share with your child is how they learn about their world, their culture and family. When children are little, a lot of these interactions involve play.

Play is an essential part of every child's learning. When children are playing, they are building their knowledge, skills and attitudes for lifelong learning. When children start school they bring all they have learned with them. Their teachers seek to build on these skills, interests and knowledge using the same vehicle for learning that works so well at home – PLAY!

Kalgoorlie Primary School

Children have made their own outdoor theatre where they create and perform their own plays and puppet shows. This helps develop their oral language skills and builds their confidence and teamwork.

Brookman Primary School

Children use their natural curiosity and playfulness to learn about Aboriginal language and culture through activities such as cooking, games and story-telling. The local Aboriginal community works closely with the school in developing these activities.

PLAY-BASED LEARNING AT SCHOOL

Public schools are fantastic places for children to learn through play. Dedicated play spaces assist children to learn how to solve problems, persevere, compromise and cooperate with others. Through play they practise and apply the skills they are taught in the classroom. Schools understand that play-based learning is an important part of a balanced approach, and that alongside more explicit teaching and instruction, it helps to keep every child productive and engaged.

TYPES OF play-based LEARNING

TYPES	WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE
Child-initiated	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Freely chosen by the child Little direct adult involvement or interaction Spontaneous
Guided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Initiated by the child or adult Adults may join in to extend learning through questioning and demonstrating
Adult-led	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Organised and directed by an adult and may include instructions but remains open ended Intentions are clear, specific and promote high level thinking skills

Dianella Primary College

The school is very multicultural with children and families from across the world. Nature play spaces and "spare parts" collections are used to encourage children to work together, solve problems, and make friends from a range of backgrounds.

Through play-based learning, your child is: discovering, taking risks, negotiating, problem-solving, being creative, learning to get on with others and developing self-awareness.

A play-based learning environment encourages talking, reading, thinking and writing. Through this, your child sees literacy and numeracy as part of their everyday experience. They see themselves as communicators, readers, writers and thinkers. They make predictions and generalisations about their world, use patterns and symbols, and experiment to find out why things happen. They make connections between experiences, concepts and processes.

Play-based learning involves careful decisions and support from teachers, so your child grows to accept responsibility for their learning while still receiving purposeful guidance and feedback. It promotes important opportunities for your child to understand how to learn, develop critical thinking skills, adapt to change, and work independently as well as with others.

Huntingdale Primary School

A whole-school approach to incorporating play-based learning throughout the curriculum. Children engage in role play, simulations and learning games, developing their creativity, flexibility, and persistence.

HOW YOU CAN SUPPORT YOUR CHILD'S LEARNING

AT HOME:

- Seek out different experiences – at home and while you are out and about.
- Read every day with your child.
- Have meaningful conversations with your child about things they are interested in.
- Ask lots of questions such as I wonder what would happen if...? or I wonder how...? or I wonder why...? The best questions are ones that you don't already know the answer to, or that don't have a simple 'yes' or 'no' answer. Questions help your child make connections and meaning and let you know their interests and opinions.
- Encourage your child to discover and develop at their own pace.
- Give your child time to play outside, as well as inside, including physical activities like running, throwing or kicking balls, and climbing.
- Try to relax about messiness and untidiness – clearing up is a productive part of children's development.
- Limit 'screen-time' on television or computers. Children thrive on two-way interactions.

AT SCHOOL:

- Share information with your child's teacher about your family background, and your child's interests and ideas.
- Ask how information will be shared between you and your child's teachers.
- Ask about the learning program and how your child will have opportunities to make choices and contribute.
- Ask how you can be involved.

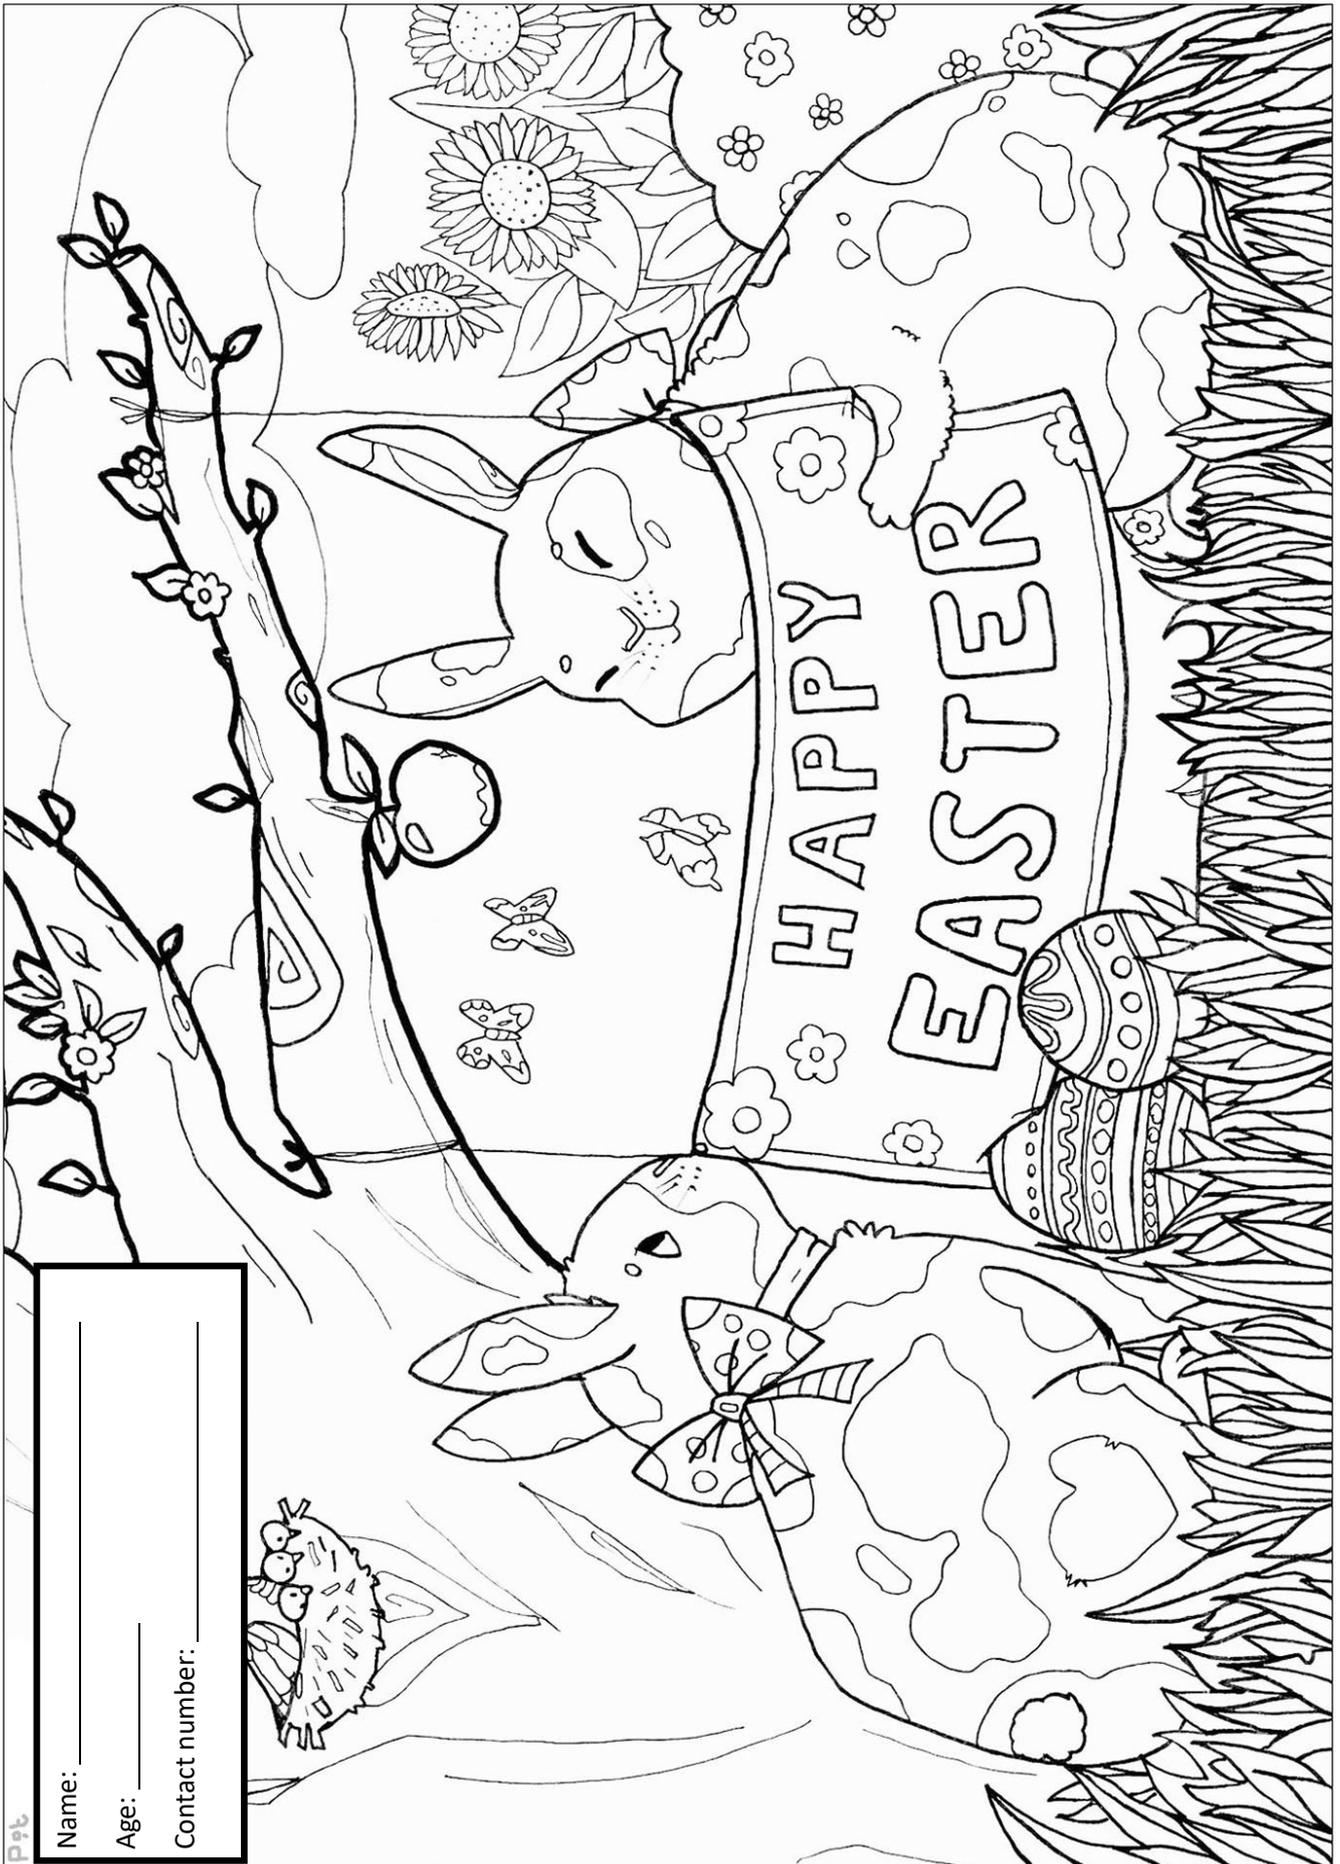

"We are never more fully alive, more completely ourselves, or more deeply engrossed in anything than when we are playing."

- Charles Schaefer, psychologist
